REPORT OF THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

TO THE CITIZENS OF BRADFORD:—

In accordance with a provision of the laws, your Committee respectfully presents this as the Report of our Schools for the past year.

That our schools are making some progress, will not be, perhaps, denied; but whether for good or evil, is a question of great moment. If for good, then has our labor not been ineffectual. Inasmuch as our common school system underlies the great fabric of our own prosperity as a State, or even a Town, it should receive the fostering care it so well deserves, of every one.

Then cherish the common school; for every one educated "is one shoulder more under the load to lighten the burden for all the rest." "The public school," said Edward Everett, "is the most important concernment of the whole community, practically interwoven with its inmost life." As our schools flourish or decay, so does our society become better, or worse, in due proportion, as they advance or recede.

Our common schools are yet, as it were, in their infancy, and need the careful nursing of a mother's care, with a father's tender judgment, that will encourage our scholars, giving them "aid and comfort." The hill of science is rugged—the path beset with thorns—hindrances are met at each succeeding step, as the careworn scholar attempts the arduous, perilous ascent. Parents, when will you awake to a realizing sense of your duty to yourselves, to your children, and the society around you, and through these, to your country, though last, yet not the least? Sustain your schools—your teachers; instruct your children, that they may become good and industrious as scholars; teach them to seek humility, practice economy, and love fidelity; that they may live in deeds, not years—in thoughts, not breath; and forget not that "He that would have the fruit must climb the tree."

Your children are soon to take your place—are to be good and useful, or not—to be supports to society and lights in the community in which they dwell, or to be a curse to themselves and others around them. By them laws are to be made and executed, and the welfare of the town, state and nation influenced. Though your property may flee away, the good that you put into your children's heads will continue there, and grow forever.

You full well know some of the perplexities that your children will meet with when they take your places; therefore the better their minds are disciplined now, the better able will they be to meet and overcome them. Can you then be too anxious for them, that they be trained and instructed to fill any station, however exalted, with honor to themselves and credit to their associates?

The much-mooted question of corporal punishment, that was so much discussed and "disgusted" in our usually sedate and quiet town last spring, we shall not discuss at length, save, perhaps, with a short reference to the Reports of the schools in Boston and Cambridge, "in the good old State of Massachusetts." Yet it would be well for all interested to know that birch grows, and for a useful and legitimate purpose, as it has ever grown since the utterance of that venerable proverb, too well known to be repeated.

"All instructors shall aim at such discipline in their schools as would be exercised by a kind, judicious parent in his family; shall avoid corporal punishment in all cases where good order can be preserved by milder measures; and in no case shall resort be had to confinement in a closet, or to other cruel or unusual punishment, as a discipline. Corporal punishment shall be inflicted only after the nature of the offence has been fully explained to the scholar, and shall be restricted to blows on the hand with a rattan, except in cases where a pupil refuses to submit to such punishment." [See Regulations of the Public Schools of Boston. Chap. VIII. Sec. 13.]

"In respect to corporal punishment, the schools of Cambridge are, and have always been subject to the principles, and under the protection of the common law, which prevails throughout the land. What the wisdom of our courts and legislation, tender of personal rights, allows, and nothing beyond that, may be done here as elsewhere. By the public law, the teacher stands to the pupil in loco parentis. What a father may lawfully do in the correction of his child, the teacher may do to the pupil. The authority of the teacher over the child in school, in matters of discipline, is measured exactly by the authority of the parent in the home government. Neither may abuse the child. There can be no dispute about these principles. They are sustained by numerous decisions." [See Cambridge Reports. Wharton's Amer. Crim. Law, Kent's Com. &c.]

In a school-room, the first thing to be secured is good order. Without this, lessons can be neither learned nor recited. To secure this, there must be rules, and they must be faithfully observed. An important office of the teacher is to create in the pupil a proper respect for authority. Instruction on this point cannot begin too early in the school-life of the child, nor can he then obtain aught of mental or moral training more essential to his building-up into a good and useful citizen.

American youth, for the reason that they are born to an inheritance of unparalleled, individual freedom, stand in peculiar need of the early acquiring of a reverence for law and its ministrations. The work of the school-room is but half done, if it does not teach this lesson. Then, a rule not enforced or indifferently executed, certainly is worse than a dead letter. It begets a mischievous influence that may last through life. The school regulations, therefore, must be firmly, judiciously, impartially enforced.

The teacher should require implicit obedience from his scholars, and he is entitled to respectful deportment from all who enter his school-room, or speak of him in the presence or hearing of his pupils; for example is of great potency with the young.

"Sire," said the sensible school-master to Charles II., when receiving his royal visit, "pull off thy hat in my school; for, if my scholars discover that the king is above me in authority, they will soon cease to respect me."

A few words to scholars: It has been extremely gratifying to witness your prompt recitations in many of our schools. In one or two instances it has been otherwise, which ought not to have been. Your teachers have labored hard, with zeal and fidelity for your advancement. "It is less pain for you to learn in youth than to be ignorant in age," is a saying worth remembering. Your school-days are short, therefore "prefer diligence before idleness, unless you esteem rust above brightness," for "deep rivers move in silence; shallow brooks are noisy." "Educate the head to think, the heart to feel, and the body to act," then will true merit be like a river, the deeper it is, the less noise it makes. Then, scholars, do not forget, that, "learning is wealth to the poor, an honor to the rich, aid to the young, and a support and comfort to the aged."

Our schools are growing smaller each succeeding year. Are we becoming a less producing people? Many remember when our school-houses were filled with scholars, where instead of forty, there are now only from five to ten, and judging of the future by the past, we shall soon have empty school-rooms. Are we as a race deteriorating? Is it the climate—the food we eat, or our manner of living? Why do so many of our children die young? Surely, there is a cause for this. Shall our own noble State become depopulated—our fields become covered with forests where again shall roam the bear and the wolf, and the lone Indian be once more the "monarch of all he surveys?" As our flocks and herds decrease, so do our children. Why not avert it and seek a remedy?

Most of our teachers, the past year, have been females, only three schools having been taught by males, and all except four had never taught before. They have been quite successful, and your committee takes great pleasure in recommending them. If anything was wanting, it was experience, and that improves by age.

It has also been a pleasure to meet, at the examination of the several schools, so many of the parents and friends, but it has been sad to witness the annoyance caused by some uncivil, indecent visitors. Self respect, if nothing more, should cause spectators to deport themselves respectfully while in school. Never create disturbance by loud whispering or talking, as some have done; nor laugh at the mistakes of the scholars. Teachers should call out the name of the person so offending, and insist on the observance of the rules of the school-room.

All visitors should know that they were once young, and some that they ought to be again.

REPORT BY DISTRICTS.

No. 1.—D. F. West, Prudential Committee. Summer and Winter Terms taught by Miss N. A. Butman. An able and efficient teacher—has taught this school several successive terms.

The parents in this district understand their business quite well, by securing Miss B. as teacher, and, yet better, if more of them would visit the school.

No. 2.—Charles P. Pike, Prudential Committee. Summer Term. Miss H. M. Eaton Teacher—her first term in teaching; she succeeded quite well—good degree of improvement. One trouble exists—that of the scholars in reading or reciting in a tone of voice so low that they can with difficulty be heard. Scholars, you can change this, if you will.

Winter Term—Miss L. S. Pike. Teacher. Of this term, we hardly know what to say. Both teachers were from the district. It appeared that Miss P. tried to do her duty, and because the school did not improve, was she to blame? However, there was a good deal of bad feeling, and for which, some of the parents, perhaps, are responsible. Don't ever let this destroy your school again. "In union there is strength."

No. 4.—Prudential Committee: S. Dana Smith. Summer and Winter Terms taught by Miss A. M. Pierce, who was anxious to benefit her scholars. Good progress was made. Each term a success.

No. 5.—H. J. Ward, Prudential Committee. Both terms were taught by Miss G. M. Patterson. Miss P. says of the school, "that the irregularity of attendance somewhat destroyed the efficiency of it." As a teacher, she was faithful to the wants of her scholars. Parents, see that your children are constant in their attendance, and promptly on time.

No. 6.—J. Peaslee, Prudential Committee. Summer Term: Miss L. S. Pike, Teacher. Her first term of teaching. The school appeared very well; improvement good. The declamations of the scholars, young as they were, would do credit to those of older minds.

Winter Term taught by Mr. J. M. Bly. Energetic and faithful—attentive to the wants of his scholars—everything was done to impart instruction. A successful school. This was Mr. Bly's first effort as teacher.

No. 7.—P. B. Craig, Prudential Committee. Summer Term taught by Miss M. M. Wilkins. A small school of six scholars. Visited but once. Report of school good.

Winter Term. Miss M. K. Dudley, Teacher. Her first effort in teaching. She appeared well, and solicitous for the improvement of her scholars. One visit. From report, presume the progress to be good.

No. 8.—T. B. Palmer, Prudential Committee. Summer Term taught by Miss P. E. Jones, who was an able and thorough teacher. Energetic in the school-room, she was among the live teachers: earnest in her work. Her scholars will long remember her. Would that she had been spared. She has passed from the Here to the Hereafter, there to tread the path of the Unknown, with everything of hope and nothing of fear.

Winter Term, Teacher, Mr. H. C. Hadley. On our first visit to the school, its appearance was bad, and doubts were entertained of its success; but as a bad beginning often makes a good ending, so did this term end well, and Mr. H. is worthy to be classed with our live teachers.

No. 10.—Gen. S. Andrews, Prudential Committee. Fall Term taught by Miss N. A. Butman very successfully. The school-house is in a — condition. In cold days it would be much the same, whether in doors or out. When it rains it can't be repaired,—in warm, sunny weather, perhaps, it don't need it. Preserve it with care.

No. 11.—Prudential Committee, D. H. Hartshorn. Teacher, Miss M. K. Dudley. Fall Term. There are some very good scholars in this school; would that all were. The studious scholar rarely needs reproof—the idle one is ever making mischief. "An idle brain is the devil's workshop" was here amply illustrated. Our opinion is, that a male teacher, full of vim, should be employed for the next Fall Term, or a "stubborn, full-of-fight female."

No. 12.—William Ayer, Prudential Committee. Summer Term taught by Miss C. E. Fiske. Miss Fiske's first term as teacher, and could not easily be excelled. A hard worker, she has placed herself in the foremost rank as one of our live teachers.

Winter Term. Mr. T. Ryan, Teacher. His first experience as a teacher. The scholars were industrious, and the teacher endeavored to be faithful. Good instruction was given, and we believe that it was quite a prosperous term of school.

A change of school-books is needed very much. The Geographies, of an edition of fifteen or twenty years since, used in our schools, have been exchanged during the past year, for those that are "up to the times;" and our Readers, Arithmetics, Grammars and Spellers ought to go the same road. Greenleaf's Arithmetics are intricate, full of puzzles, and of little practical utility. Grammar is too much neglected. Only some twenty of our scholars have attended to that study, having some six or more different kinds. Again, the multiplicity of text-books has made it very difficult to classify the scholars. The Readers are also very familiar, having been in use a long time. Your attention is called to a list of text-books, in our opinion, every way adapted to the wants of our schools, which will be shown to you at the Town Hall on election day; and we would respectfully ask the Town to adopt the same for a term of five years.

Respectfully submitted,

H. C. FELCH, School Committee.

Bradford, Feb. 22, 1870.

The Superintending Committee of Union School District No. 1 submit the following report:

The Primary Department for the Summer Term was taught by Miss Ella F. Currier, who succeeded in securing good order and wholesome discipline in a quiet manner, and therefore obtained a good degree of advancement in the various studies.

The Winter Term was under the instruction of Miss Sarah A. Cheney, who not only sustained the former good order, but inspired her pupils with interest and ambition to learn—a somewhat rare achievement for a teacher of young scholars. The school upon examination appeared unusually well.

The Grammar Department. The Summer Term was under the direction of Miss Fannie C. Hoyt. The school for the most part was small in numbers and it was difficult to command that interest which might be expected with larger numbers.

The Winter Term was taught by Miss Augusta H. Eaton. It is enough to say that Miss Eaton fully sustained her well-known and well-earned reputation as a teacher. We can give no better idea of the school than appears in the teacher's remarks in the Register. She says: "The past term of school has been pleasant in many respects. The favorable weather has enabled the pupils to attend regularly, consequently a greater degree of improvement in many classes has been noticed. They have done nobly. Few imperfect lessons noticed, and several of the scholars have refrained from whispering.

On the whole, our schools this year may be considered successful, not successful in the highest degree, but comparatively, and indicate advancement.

REPORT

THE CEMETERY COMMITTEE.

The committee appointed by the Town, at its Annual Meeting in March, 1870, to procure a Cemetery, respectfully submit the following

REPORT:

Your committee, impressed with the necessity that existed for having a new place for the burial of the dead, inasmuch as the yard at the North and most populous part of the town was already filled, entered upon their duties with a sincere desire to procure such a place, and put it in such a state of improvement as would be satisfactory to the people and creditable to the town.

Your committee found it no easy task to fix upon a proper location, and a great deal of time was spent in examining various lots; for while it was their desire to obtain such a place as would be susceptible of improvement, so as to keep pace with the spirit of the age, and not be very far behind other towns in such matters, they felt that it was also necessary to keep an eye to the expense, that it might not be too great a burden upon the town already laboring under a heavy debt.

They finally, and as the best they could do under the circumstances, fixed upon the present location, being a portion of the land formerly belonging to the Morrill Tavern stand. The committee would have been glad to have found a place nearer the center of the two villages, but were unable to find one that would answer the purpose.

They at one time nearly decided in favor of "Fox-Hill;" but as many complained that this would be too far out of the way, and especially as it was found that it would cost a very large sum to fence it, as compared with the present location, they felt obliged to abandon it. The expense of such a lot as we considered we ought to have, if we located it on "Fox-Hill," with the necessary fencing, building of roads, and grading, we estimated at not less than $1400, or $1500, while the present lot has cost scarcely half that sum.

We have built around the cemetery a substantial board fence, with cedar posts, not feeling warranted to go to the expense of stone posts at present. If it should be found necessary at some future time, as the cedar posts decay, stone posts can be put down, at every alternate post, and the fence bolted to them, in the same way that we have secured the posts to the gate-way. The gate-way, or main entrance, is, we think, respectable in appearance, though not expensive; and the gate on the eastern side was put in at the expense of M. W. Tappan, and is to be maintained by him so long as an entrance there is desired for his accommodation.

We have also, as directed by the resolution raising the committee, laid the cemetery off into convenient lots, varying in size from 150 to 300 square feet. There are one hundred and one lots already laid out, with nearly one third of the yard that has not been lotted at all. As a permanent mode of marking the lots, and as the commencement for future embellishment of the place, we have also laid out avenues and paths to which we have given appropriate names. The location and size of the lots, the avenues and paths, and other portions of the Cemetery, are all laid down by actual survey, on a very well prepared plan, drawn by H. H. Harriman, Esq., who made the survey, and under whose direction the Cemetery has been laid out.

The facilities for a receiving and other tombs are unsurpassed, and tombs can be built, if desired, at comparatively slight cost.

The whole expense has been as follows :

Land,	$239.25
Lumber for fencing, nails, &c.,	106.63
Making road from Village Street to Cemetery, building fence, grading, white-washing, &c.,	271.65
Arched gate-way, at main entrance,	29.39
Surveying, making plan, including the survey of " Fox-Hill,"	44.50
Printing posters and deeds,	7.50
Whole amount,	<hr/> $698.92

It will thus be seen that the whole cost of the Cemetery, thus far, including land, fencing, building road, grading, surveying, gate-way, and every thing, is the sum of six hundred and ninety-eight dollars and ninety-two cents.

Toward the payment of this sum we have already sold, at public and private sale, thirty-six lots, amounting to the sum of three hundred and fifty dollars, leaving only the small sum of three hundred and forty-eight dollars and ninety-two cents, which has been advanced by the town. The residue of the lots not sold have been appraised at the same rates at which the others sold, and are being called for, from time to time, at their appraised value. When sold, each purchaser receives a deed of his lot. The value of the sixty-five lots remaining unsold is $605 ; so that, it will be seen, when the lots are all sold, the Cemetery will not only not have cost the town any thing (save only the advancement of said sum of $348.92 for a brief period), but there will be left, to be credited to the Cemetery-fund, the sum of $256.98, beside the residue of the land which is not yet laid off into lots.

This balance, together with what may accrue from the sale of lots in that part of the Cemetery not yet lotted (if it shall be thought best to put it into lots), can, and we trust will be, a portion of it, at least, judiciously expended, from time to time, in the further improvement and beautifying of the place.

In no one thing is the progress of civilization and refinement more apparent than in the respect which is paid to the places of sepulture of the dead. It is not many years since it was the custom to locate burial places upon some worthless, bleak and desolate tract, and the dilapidated fences, the broken slate-stones over the graves, and the weeds that every where were left to grow, marked the neglect with which these hallowed spots were treated. Now it is different. A spirit of emulation is manifested between different towns and localities in regard to these places. Beautiful and romantic sites are selected, and tastefully laid out. Monuments and stones of granite and marble are reared, and trees and shubbery are planted, and flowers bloom where once every thing was dismal and unsightly. Your committee believe that they have selected a spot which combines all the necessary requisites for a beautiful cemetery. It is situated on the banks of the river, and is capable of being improved and adorned to any desirable extent. From the pleasant view obtained from it in almost every direction, we have named it PLEASANT HILL CEMETERY. We hope that the doings of your committee will meet the approval of our people, and that the owners of lots, and others, will take a just pride in contributing their share toward the embellishment of the place; so that when strangers come in town, no one need feel ashamed to take them to the spot where rest the remains of our lamented dead.

In closing, we would say, that in order to have the place what it should be, constant care and attention will be necessary; but this need not be attended with any considerable expense. To this end we suggest that a committee of three be chosen, to be known as the "Pleasant Hill Cemetery" committee, whose duty it shall be to prescribe reasonable and proper rules and regulations in reference to the ornamentation of the lots; to lay out additional lots, if they shall think best to do so; to appoint some suitable person to keep the paths and grounds in order, and have charge of the same, and that said committee have the general care, supervision and management of said cemetery, making such improvements, from time to time, as may seem necessary, with power to sell lots at their appraised values, and to give deeds for the same.

Said committee to hold their offices till others shall be chosen in their place, or a different system adopted,—their services to be rendered free of expense to the town.

And we respectfully request that our report may be entered upon the records of the town.

MASON W. TAPPAN,
JOSHUA EATON,

REPORT OF THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

To the Citizens of Bradford:

Agreeably to the requirements of chap. 5, page 44, sec. 22, Laws of New-Hampshire pertaining to Common Schools, I herewith present you with the Annual Report, which is submitted for your careful consideration.

Text-Books. Your Committee found it necessary to make, if possible, a uniformity in the Text-Books used, by continuing and adopting such as were deemed necessary for the efficiency of our schools, and he doubts not that we have the best selection for that purpose that can be procured, and at a very trifling expense. A careful examination of these books will satisfy any unprejudiced mind that they are what we have long needed, containing sound practical truths, giving a lively impetus to the perceptive faculties, and abounding in that varied information which has too long been withheld from our common schools. A proper text-book being of the first importance, your Committee was anxious to see every scholar provided with such. This change has done away with that multiplicity of books and classes, thus saving much valuable time to teacher and scholar, thereby making the school more profitable.

Success of Schools. Our schools, under this change of books, have started, as it were, anew, and have made marked progress. Many of the parents and friends are taking a lively interest in their success, by visiting the schools and otherwise—thus giving a great moral support to the teacher and scholar, by creating that noble spirit of true emulation which promises an abundant harvest for the future. Your Committee believes that success is a duty, as well as a virtue, and to produce the greatest success, the unremitting exertions of the parent, master or guardian, as well as that of the child, is absolutely necessary.

Popular Education never was so important for the welfare of our country as it is to-day. Universal knowledge is the mightiest defense and the noblest power any nation can erect for its safety; but see to it, that it is based on those Christian virtues, by which all knowledge is made productive of good. "Knowledge," said Daniel Webster, "does not comprise all which is contained in the large term of Education. The feelings are to be disciplined, the passions are to be restrained, true and worthy motives are to be inspired, a profound religious feeling is to be instilled, and pure morality inculcated under all circumstances. All this is comprised in Education."

Teachers. Your teachers have, generally speaking, been quite successful. Aided by the school regulations with which they were furnished, they have, in almost every instance, sustained that true dignity which is the offspring of politeness and good breeding; and it gives me pleasure to state that no fault has been found that partiality has been used.

Discipline. Their discipline, although as yet not so perfect as is desired, was quite satisfactory — some improvement having been made in that direction. But as no school can be eminently successful without order, every effort which wisdom can dictate should be used to attain it.

Registers. The law is, that no teacher is "entitled to receive pay for services until the register or school record is properly filled, and signed, and delivered to the Committee of the town, receiving his certificate therefor." It is of much importance that the requirements of the law should not be ignored.

Irregularities. Let every prudential committee make an effort to correct these irregularities, and require of each teacher a Register Certificate ere he pays them for services.

Twice this year has the State Superintendent referred to the imperfect manner in which the school registers have been kept; it producing much embarrassment for those who make up the reports, and when they are imperfect, the reports of town and State are also incomplete.

Committees. Let each prudential committee "notify the Town Committee, in due season, of the commencement and close of the schools." Chap. 3, p. 28, §27. Strictly speaking, this has not been done, although in most instances they have been very faithful in the discharge of their duties, as defined by the Amended Digest of School Laws, with which all of them have been supplied; and let me herewith tender them my sincere thanks. Their position is an important one. Choosing, as they do, in a measure, the instructors of our children, how careful they should be in the selection of a teacher—to find one that is adapted to the school.

Teachers' Institute. The Teachers' Institute for Merrimack County held its session here the 24th, 25th and 26th of January last, under the call of our very able State Superintendent, Rev. A. C. Hardy, was intended directly for the benefit of our teachers, scholars and citizens. The weather was cold and stormy, most of the time, but the truths uttered, the new methods of teaching advanced, the very instructive lessons given by the able board of Professors who conducted it, commanded the closest attention of all those who availed themselves of this great privilege.

Modes of Instruction. It is of the most vital importance that our teachers should have the best modes of instruction, and that they should use them in our schools. Constant attention to this subject, thoroughness in recitation, taking pains to interest the scholar in every branch—seeing that they advance no farther than a perfect knowledge of what they have been over will justify, arranging the hardest studies for the morning, when the mind is fresh and vigorous—with an anxious eye to the health of the scholars—regulating the ventilation of the school rooms with judgment and discretion; all of these duties are incumbent upon them.

Normal School. The State Normal School for teachers commences its first term March 15, at Plymouth, N. H. It is intended to make this the best in New-England. There these new and improved methods of instruction are to be taught. The expense to be incurred by the teacher is but trifling. Every teacher should attend if possible.

School Houses. Let there be more interest taken in the looks, convenience and comfort of your school houses. Some of them are hardly worthy of the name. They should be replaced by new ones, or judiciously repaired. It is a sure indication that the people of a district are earnest in the work, when they furnish their children a neat, convenient and comfortable school house. It increases the value of the property in the district, gives a better impression to the stranger, and is better every way. As early impressions are lasting, give your children something that will make a bright spot in their memory.

REPORT BY DISTRICTS.

District No. 1. Mason Cresey, Prudential Committee.

Summer Term—Taught by Miss Hattie E. Nichols, who had excellent success, and with more experience will no doubt make one of our best. This was her first term. School prospered. Let the scholars learn to be more punctual.

Winter Term—Mr. F. J. Farnsworth, teacher the first half, was an excellent scholar, but lacked the energy required to control his school, and was succeeded by Mr. Frank J. Bickford, who finished the term and restored the school, by his persuasive power, to the paths of success and usefulness. Some of the scholars in this district should learn to have more self-respect, and give more attention to their books, as time lost is gone for ever.

District No. 2. Hiram Nichols, Prudential Committee.

Summer and Winter Terms—taught by Miss H. M. Eaton, who was a favorite with the scholars, being a very excellent teacher; her schools were orderly, valuable and progressive.

District No. 4. S. Dana Smith, Prudential Committee.

Summer Term—taught by Miss Marie H. Buswell. This was her first term. Some progress was made—with experience would make a good teacher.

Winter Term—Miss Anne M. Pierce, teacher—a faithful worker in the cause, ambitious and thorough. Her school was prosperous and progressive. There are those in this district who claim to be advocates of the cause of education, but they try to impose legal restraint on those who try to obtain it. To those I would suggest that united efforts only produce harmonious results.

District No. 5. Carlos Abbott, Prudential Committee.

Fall Term—teacher, Miss Mary C. Colby. Under the instruction of this very able teacher, the school made rapid advancement, and was highly successful. Discipline very satisfactory.

District No. 6. George Hoyt, Prudential Committee.

Summer Term—taught by Miss Lizzie S. Pike, who spared no pains to make the term one of value to the district. By maintaining order and creating an interest among the scholars, she commanded the respect and good will of the district, and the school prospered.

Winter Term—Mr. Edwin C. Fisher, teacher. A good instructor, faithful worker. Had good order and a school which was very acceptable.

District No. 7. Hollis C. Brockway, Prudential Committee.

Summer Term—taught by Miss Jennie E. Gray. A very excellent teacher, kept good order, and the improvement was very noticeable.

Winter Term—teacher, Miss Annie S. Ray. A young teacher and her first school. She evinced much energy, and infused new life into the efforts of the scholars, keeping good order. They learned rapidly. A word to the scholars: Try and understand the principles of your lessons as you pass over them, and cultivate correct habits of study.

District No. 8. Clark Whitecomb, Prudential Committee.

Summer Term—taught by Miss Annie M. Pierce, one of our most thorough teachers. Her labors were very satisfactory to the district. Her school was one of the best.

Winter Term—Mr. Herman G. Brown, teacher. A good teacher, and the school made some advancement, but not so much as was expected. There are some good scholars in this district. Try and increase that number.

District No. 10. Henry Bixby, Prudential Committee.

Fall Term—taught by Miss Marion C. Bixby—energetic, faithful and capable. With but a short term the school prospered unmistakably. A better school-house and a longer term of school are what is needed in this district.

District No. 11. George T. Dunfield, Prudential Committee.

Winter Term—taught by Mr. Frank J. Bickford. Possessing great force of character, and knowing his duty, he had a pleasant and very successful school.

District No. 12. Curtis Messer, Prudential Committee.

Summer Term—taught by Miss Kate J. Presby—a live teacher, persistent worker, and strict disciplinarian. Her school prospered accordingly.

Winter Term—Miss E. M. Eaton, teacher. One of our best teachers. Under her care the school has taken its onward course, and it is hoped will ever continue the good work, so nobly commenced.

Finally, your Committee considers the schools as having been quite successful this year, notwithstanding there was division of opinion in some of the districts, but trusts, that, when the new school year commences, nothing may exist to mar the harmony, or prevent the active coöperation of all those who have a true interest in common schools.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES F. DAVIS,

Committee.

SCHOOL REPORT.

TO THE CITIZENS OF BRADFORD:

The following report of the condition of your schools is respectfully submitted:

DISTRICT No. 1.

SAMUEL H. JONES, Prudential Committee.

Both terms were taught by Mrs. Ella F. Cressy. We think that Mrs. Cressy entered upon her duties as teacher this year with a realizing sense of the responsibility resting upon a teacher, and with a determination to labor for the best interests of her pupils. By her knowledge of the school she was enabled to enter at once into the work of instruction.

The summer school appeared well at the commencement, and the scholars seemed to be interested in their studies, but at the close the examination showed a want of thoroughness.

During the winter term the advancement was more thorough, and much good work was done. There was a slight deficiency in respect to order. It is the opinion of your committee that a change of teacher might be for the benefit of the school.

DISTRICT No. 2.

WILLIAM G. HOYT, Prudential Committee.

Summer and winter terms taught by Miss Alice V. Trow. Though this was Miss Trow's first experience in teaching, her school was managed and instructed in a manner that would have given credit to a teacher of more experience. The advancement, in all the branches taught, was thorough and satisfactory. Discipline of a high order was maintained through the year. This school is taking a high stand among the schools of this town, both in deportment and scholarship.

It is hoped that the district will manifest their interest in this school by furnishing a better school-house.

DISTRICT No. 4.

SULLIVAN G. STEVENS, Prudential Committee.

Summer and winter terms taught by Miss Anne M. Pierce. Though the schools were short, more satisfactory advancement was made than is sometimes made in schools of much greater length. In consequence of Miss Pierce's previous employment here no delay was necessary for teacher and scholars to become acquainted.

Miss Pierce possesses ample qualifications as a teacher, and having had much experience her services are very desirable. We think the prudential committee is justified in securing a competent teacher rather than long schools.

You have here an example of the advantages derived from employing the same teacher regularly, when you have a good teacher that is adapted to the school.

DISTRICT No. 5.

HENRY F. PRESBY, Prudential Committee.

Only one term of school. Miss Annie M. Ray commenced the term, but after one week was obliged to leave the school on account of sickness. The school was continued by Mr. Leander W. Blodgett, who worked earnestly for the good of the pupils, and though the school was short considerable advancement was made.

DISTRICT No. 6.

GEORGE C. TROW, Prudential Committee.

Summer term taught by Miss Etta F. Nichols. The success of Miss Nichols this term has in no particular fallen below that attained during her previous terms in this school. Enthusiasm and fidelity on the part of the teacher is sure to create interest among scholars. The instruction was thorough and the discipline good. Considering the age of the scholars, the examination was one of the best we have witnessed during the year.

Winter term taught by Mr. C. C. Messer. This was a very profitable term of school. The instruction was of a high order, and the advancement was commendable to both teacher and pupils.

DISTRICT No. 7.

PARKER B. CRAIGE, Prudential Committee.

Summer term taught by Miss Nella F. Cressy. This was Miss Cressy's first attempt at teaching. Her school was well conducted; the only fault noticed was that the instruction was not thorough enough. With experience Miss Cressy may make a good teacher.

Winter term taught by Miss Sarah H. Craig. The school was small, yet well managed and instructed.

DISTRICT No. 8.

JAMES E. CRESSY, Prudential Committee.

Summer term taught by Miss Belle E. Colby. This was Miss Colby's first experience in teaching. She was faithful to her trust, and the scholars seemed interested. The progress made in all the branches taught was satisfactory. With experience Miss Colby will make one of our best teachers.

Winter term taught by Mr. William G. Hoyt. The school was characterized by the same good order and steady advancement as Mr. Hoyt's previous term in this district. The progress in all of the classes was rapid and quite thorough, but especially in the arithmetic classes the advancement was worthy of remark.

DISTRICT No. 10.

GEORGE NICHOLS, Prudential Committee.

Only one term; taught by Miss Emma J. Colburn. The school was quite small. Each scholar made rapid advancement, and the ready answers to each and every question at the examination spoke well for thoroughness. We think that if it could be done, in a manner satisfactory to all concerned, that it would be advisable to divide this district, and unite it to adjoining districts.

DISTRICT No. 11.

DR. P. B. RICHARDS, Prudential Committee.

Fall term, taught by Miss Clara M. Smith. Though there are but a small number of scholars in this district, the school was increased to a goodly number by scholars coming in from adjoining districts. The school was quite prosperous.

DISTRICT No. 12.

EZEKIEL F. BARNARD, Prudential Committee.

Summer term, taught by Miss Mary J. Eaton. The efforts of teacher, scholars and parents seemed to be harmoniously united, for the general advancement of the school.

The school was well disciplined, and the instruction was of a high order. The progress made in all the classes was creditable to all concerned. Miss Eaton is one of our best teachers.

Winter term, taught by Miss Ada I. Ayer. Miss Ayer possessed good literary qualifications, and we think she labored for the good of her pupils; but a want of interest on the part of some scholars detracted from the general advancement of the school. Some classes made good progress.

GENERAL REMARKS.

Calling to mind, as I do in closing this report, the condition of our schools for the last three years, I feel confident in stating that they have never during this time more justly merited commendation than during the past year. A few of our schools indeed, have not attained that degree of proficiency which we had reason to expect, while all others have fully met our highest expectations.

For the most part your schools are made up of scholars that apparently appreciate in a measure their advantages, and strive to improve their time.

At present there are a goodly number of excellent scholars in your schools, but by using all reasonable means and heeding past experience, cannot that number be increased?

Prudential committees the past year have been very fortunate in securing efficient teachers, and I would have the committees of the coming year bear in mind that their schools need the best teachers,—that a short school conducted by a teacher competent to give correct instruction, and able to maintain good order, with a temperament adapted to the school, is more profitable than a long school with a poor teacher.

The truth of the above has been already established the past year. Your schools the past year have been quite short, many of them closing in the very midst of their usefulness. I would recommend that more money be appropriated for schooling the coming year. We know that in our present financial condition it is necessary to practice all due economy, but it is a question whether withholding from our schools every dollar except what the law requires us to appropriate is true economy.

Parents, we are glad to see you manifest an interest in your schools by being present on days of examination, but we fail to find many visits on other days placed to your credit. We know that the educational advancement of your children is your fondest desire; why, then, withhold that which would tend so much to increase the value of your schools? Visit them earlier in the term while the work of instruction is going on and ascertain their condition, and not trust to report or conjecture; nothing would give greater encouragement to the teacher, or awaken a deeper interest among your scholars than your repeated visits to the school-room.

You should become acquainted with your teachers and learn their methods of instruction.

We think that the text-book in geography should be changed for one of a more recent publication.

In closing this, my final report, I desire to thank the prudential committees for the faithful manner in which they have discharged their duties, and teachers for their untiring efforts; and lastly I would thank the citizens of Bradford for the confidence they have placed in me.

In taking leave of the schools of Bradford I wish them abundant success.

GEORGE C. TROW, Committee.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDING SCHOOL COMMITTEE OF UNION SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 1.

The Superintending School Committee of Union School District Number 1 respectfully submit their report of the schools for the year ending March, 1876.

The year is divided into three terms; the first commencing May 17th, and ending July 9th; commencing again August 30th, and closing October 27th. The winter term commenced November 29th and continued twelve weeks. The whole number of scholars attending the Primary department has been 36; average attendance, 28. The largest number attending the higher department has been 35, including eight from out the district. The school is generally larger during the winter term. Your committee were fortunate in securing the services of Miss J. S. Bartlett of Warner, a teacher of experience and good literary acquirements, for the higher department of the school, for both the summer and fall terms; and under her earnest and thorough instruction, the school made good progress. The closing examinations were creditable to the pupils, and showed Miss Bartlett's aptitude as a teacher, for the great art of teaching is the ability to impart knowledge to others, without which even those most thoroughly educated fail of success.

The Primary department was under the care of Miss Carrie A. Martin for the three terms, and showed good improvement, particularly in the fall term. The spring and winter terms were much broken up by sickness; measles and whooping cough prevailing extensively. Miss Martin seemed to have the faculty of explaining to the comprehension of the little ones, and won their love, which is an important point to be gained by any teacher.

The winter term of the higher department was taught by Mr. Frank J. Peaslee, a teacher of much ability, who had charge of the school the previous winter. He endeavored to inspire the scholars with ambition to excel in their studies, and to give a higher tone to the school generally. In this he has been encouraged by your committee, for it has been their desire and effort that the school might take a high stand and be a credit to themselves and the community. The parents, and citizens generally, manifest much interest in the school, and with proper care in the selection of teachers, there is no reason why it should not afford facilities for education in the higher as well as the common branches usually studied, thus giving many an opportunity for education who could not otherwise enjoy it.

As suggestions are in order, we respectfully submit the following, gathered from observation and experience. It is a rare thing for a term of school to pass without some criticism among the scholars; sometimes the criticisms are just, oftentimes they are seriously unjust; but we believe if the parents would observe the rule of refraining to speak unfavorably of teachers in the presence of their children, of trying to soothe rather than inflame their angry feelings, that they would find the usefulness and good name of their schools increased incalculably. If they feel that teachers have erred in judgment, it is better to speak to them privately, and find out both sides of the case, and suggest a different course if necessary, than to undermine their authority by indiscriminate sympathy and co-operation with the fault finding of their children. We want the good name of our schools to be such that no teacher shall be reluctant to take charge of them from the fact that the parents fail to support their efforts to maintain good order,—an element quite as essential to the formation and success of a good school as the teaching of book knowledge.

SCHOOL REPORT.

TO THE CITIZENS OF BRADFORD :—In compliance with the law, my annual report of the schools of this town is submitted for your careful inspection :

Marked progress has been made in some of the schools, and it is regretted that there should have been any exception to this declaration. The work of our teachers has been unremitting in most instances, and the noble effort to educate our children has been crowned with more than ordinary success in a majority of your schools. Upon the proper education of our children depends the future of this Great Republic. This subject is worthy of your best thoughts. The centennial year has passed into history and all has been recorded. The second centennial era has commenced and is before us in the future. What it has in store for us has to be revealed by Time the arbitrator of all things. "When we turn to the past and reflect what this Republic has been, and is, how is it possible not to feel a profound sense of our responsibility to all future ages ? What vast motives press upon us for lofty efforts ! What brilliant prospects invite our enthusiasm ! What solemn warnings demand our vigilance and moderate our confidence ! The Old World has revealed to us in its unsealed books, the beginning and end of all its own marvellous struggles in the cause of liberty. Greece, lovely Greece, the land of scholars, and the muse of arts," where sister republics, in fair processions, chanted the praises of liberty, where, and what is she? For two thousand years the oppressor has bound her to the earth. Her arts are no more; the last sad relics of her temples are but the barracks of a ruthless soldiery; the fragments of her columns and her palaces are in the dust, yet beautiful in ruins.

Where are the republics of modern times, which clustered around immortal Italy? Venice and Genoa exist but in name. The Alps, indeed, look down upon the brave and peaceful Swiss in their native fastness; but the guaranty of their freedom is in their weakness, and not in their strength. The mountains are not easily crossed, and the valleys are not easily retained. The country is too poor for plunder, and too rough for valuable conquest. We stand, the latest, and if we fail probably the last experiment of self government by the people. Thence arises the importance of a practical and substantial education based not upon the vices and luxuries which destroyed the Old World, but upon morality, truth and a pure religious faith.

REPORT BY DISTRICTS.

DISTRICT NO. 1.

ELBRIDGE HOYT, Prudential Committee.

Summer term, taught by Miss Ellen M. Eaton, a teacher of great experience, and a successful term was the result.

Winter term, taught by Mr. William G. Hoyt, who reports slow progress on account of irregular attendance, produced by the severe weather during the first of the term. The prudential committee reports very satisfactory progress in the discipline and the studies when the school closed. Your committee was unable to attend the examination.

DISTRICT NO. 2.

A. FRENCH SMITH, Prudential Committee.

Summer term, taught by Miss Clara C. Gutterson. This school was very satisfactory ; with experience, will no doubt make an excellent teacher.

Winter term, taught by Miss Carrie A. Martin, a good teacher, the committee reported very favorable. Your committee did not receive notice in season to attend the close of school.

DISTRICT NO. 4.

CARLOS A. ABBOTT, Prudential Committee.

Summer and winter terms, taught by Miss Lizzie S. Pike. A faithful teacher, having had much experience ; the scholars learned rapidly ; easily governs and instructs her pupils. Good schools.

DISTRICT NO. 6.

NELSON R. FORSAITHE, Prudential Committee.

Summer term, taught by Miss Mary J. Eaton. A young, but very promising teacher, dignified, and commanding respect from her pupils. Kept an excellent school.

Winter term, taught by Mr. Charles M. Sargent ; his first term. There was some progress made, but perfect success did not attend this term of school.

DISTRICT NO. 7.

EBEN H. ADAMS, Prudential Committee.

Summer term, taught by Miss Mary E. Sargent, this was her first term, and was satisfactory ; with experience will make a good instructor.

Winter term taught by Miss Emma Withington. Her first term gave evidence of qualities in her manner of instruction that will ensure success as a teacher ; good progress was made.

DISTRICT NO. 8.

JAMES P. CRESSY, Prudential Committee.

Summer and winter terms taught by Miss Ida M. Blood, who is ever thorough and practical in her instruction, omitting nothing that will benefit her scholars, spares no pains, and is a perfect disciplinarian ; with such a teacher no school can help advancing.

Fall term taught by Mr. Fred S. Sargent. A young teacher of good address, but not so satisfactory to the district as is desirable to make a school profitable.

DISTRICT NO. 10.

GEORGE NICHOLS, Prudential Committee.

Fall term, taught by Miss Louise L. Eaton, a teacher of considerable experience and marked ability. The progress made by the scholars this term was very great, and your committee was convinced that her efforts were in the same proportion.

DISTRICT NO. 11.

SILAS E. FOSTER, Prudential Committee.

Fall term, taught by Miss Ella F. Sanborn, who is a teacher of great energy, and imparts to her school the same spirit; the order was good, and the progress made was very commendable.

DISTRICT NO. 12.

LAFAYETTE AYER, Prudential Committee.

Summer and winter terms, taught by Miss Ida M. Lufkin, a graduate from Stevens' High School of Claremont N. H. She seemed to be a favorite with her scholars, and proved by her schools to be an excellent teacher. The deportment of the scholars is much to their credit.

In conclusion permit your committee to state that there are two duties incumbent upon parents, which it is worse than folly to neglect; they are these: keep your children from bad company, make them obey. If you would ask how to make them obey, I would answer in the easiest, most pleasant way you can, but at all events make them obey, and the same course should be pursued to keep them from the contaminating influences of bad company, or you must expect to spend your old age in deep mourning over the ruins of your family.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES F. DAVIS, S. S. Committee.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDING SCHOOL COMMITTEE OF UNION SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 1.

The superintending school committee of Union District No. 1, present the following as their annual report of the primary and grammar schools:

During the summer, each school was in session eight weeks. The fall term ten weeks, and the winter twelve. We have been fortunate in retaining the services of the same teachers throughout the year, and it gives us much pleasure to be able to speak in so favorable terms of the prosperity of both schools.

Miss Etta F. Nichols has been teacher of the primary department, and with the result of her labors your committee are well satisfied. Miss Nichols evidently has the faculty of gaining the good will and affection of her scholars, and with that for a foundation, good results can but follow.

Miss J. S. Bartlett has had charge of the grammar school. As she has taught here in previous terms and given excellent satisfaction, this was again to be expected. The peculiar fitness of Miss Bartlett for the duties of the school room is indicated in the fact that order and discipline are at all times maintained, and this without apparent effort on her part.

SCHOOL REPORT.

TO THE CITIZENS OF BRADFORD:—

In compliance with the law, the following is respectfully submitted as the annual report of your schools:

The schools, the past year, have exhibited a good degree of improvement. The teachers employed have generally had experience and acknowledged success, previous to the past year; or, if without experience, have been known to us as diligent and faithful scholars. The past teaches us that only such should be employed. The selection of teachers is of the greatest importance to the welfare of our schools, and it should be made with due caution, and never without a full knowledge of their experience and qualifications.

In order for parents to realize the greatest profit from the few week's schooling in the districts, they should not fail in supplementary teaching at home. This will encourage and interest the scholar. They should teach their children at home that it is their duty to cheerfully and willingly obey their teacher. They should also frequently visit the school and make their interest manifest. Another thing they should never do, and that is indulge in the habit of criticising the teacher in the presence of the children, insinuating that they are wanting in knowledge, in government, and the like. After a school has once commenced, no good results were ever seen to come from exposing the teachers' weak points, many of which may be imaginary. Such a course is very hurtful, and parents often do a lasting injury in creating bad habits of thought in their children. Parents should ever be mindful of the fact that they are doing a great injury to the success of the school and to their children by allowing them to be irregular in their attendance or to absent themselves for the last few days of a term, because they do not wish to be present at examination.

Prudential committees have manifested much interest in the schools, feeling deeply the responsibility of their position. They have in the main employed good teachers. This is right. Do not hire poor teachers because they will teach for a low price or because the scholars in your district are not far advanced in their studies. Secure the best teachers possible for the highest price you can afford to pay. We would suggest however, that a little more attention on the part of some, in notifying the superintending committee of the opening and close of the schools, would be very beneficial, and also that a practice of presenting your teachers for examination previous to the opening of the schools would better promote the general interest of all concerned.

The scholars have generally manifested a desire for improvement, and an interest in study. Where this has not been the case, the cause may be assigned mainly to previous irregularity of attendance, and want of proper home influence.

All persons who have had experience in teaching children, know the importance of having something by which to demonstrate whatever they would teach. In most of our schools there is too little explanation or familiar illustration of the branches that are taught. Much of the instruction is therefore superficial. This is owing in a measure to a want of proper means of giving such illustration, but with a suitable apparatus, and proper skill on the part of the teacher, the principles on which the different branches of study are based will be better understood.

REPORT BY DISTRICTS.

DISTRICT No. 1.

JOHN HOYT, Prudential Committee.

Summer and winter terms taught by Miss Belle C. Hoyt. This was Miss Hoyt's first attempt at teaching, yet we think she used good judgment in the management of her school. This being the largest school in town, the labors of the teacher were very arduous. She seemed to infuse life into her classes, and the promptness with which the questions were answered was very satisfactory. With experience Miss Hoyt will rank among our best teachers.

DISTRICT No. 2.

EDWIN NICHOLS, Prudential Committee.

Summer term. This school was commenced by Miss Helen M. Colby, who taught it one week, when, owing to ill-health, she was obliged to leave it. We were well pleased with the appearance of the school at the commencement, the indications were favorable for a prosperous term, and we regretted that this teacher was unable to finish it. But we consider the Prudential Committee very fortunate in securing the services of Mrs. S. J. Colby, who completed the term with much satisfaction. Unusual care and taste were exhibited in the preparation and adornment of the school room for examination.

Winter term, taught by Mr. R. M. Dowlin, who fully sustained his reputation previously acquired in this district. Mr. Dowlin labored under some disadvantages on account of sickness on the part of the scholars, which severely cut down the average attendance. Good progress, however, crowned his labors, and the closing examination was commendable to both teacher and scholars.

DISTRICT No. 4.

WALTER F. DAVIS, Prudential Committee.

Summer and winter terms, both taught by Miss Nella F. Cressy, who conducted her school with much satisfaction. The scholars appeared orderly and studious, and seemed well to appreciate their advantages for schooling. The teacher seemed to possess the confidence and esteem of her pupils, and was able to interest them in their studies, and a good degree of improvement was the result.

DISTRICT No. 5.

PRESCOTT COLBY, Prudential Committee.

Fall term taught by Miss Elvira J. Buckman, who is a teacher of wide experience and well earned high reputation. She has excellent method and manner in her teaching, and all who have been favored with her instruction, have made excellent progress. The people of this district believe in hiring the best teachers.

DISTRICT No. 6.

TIMOTHY MORSE, Prudential Committee.

Summer term taught by Miss Hannah M. Eaton. The school for this term has been unusually small, but very interesting; the teacher spared no pains to make the school one of profit, winning the love of her pupils by kind words; the combined efforts of teacher and pupils accomplished much and thorough advancement.

Winter term taught by Mr. Walter P. Melvin, who came to this school without experience as a teacher; but, possessing natural ability to teach, he soon interested his pupils in their studies, and commanded the closest attention of the class, while reciting, never passing over a principle without satisfactory explanation. The school was well disciplined. At the closing examination the exercises showed, beyond a doubt, that thoroughness had been the motto. Mathematics were taught with unusual success.

DISTRICT No. 7.

FRED C. BROCKWAY, Prudential Committee.

Summer term taught by Miss Annie C. Smith, who taught the school nearly through, but, on account of sickness, was obliged to close her school without examination. Upon visiting the school at its commencement, everything was found in good order, and bid fair for success. Reports from the district state that good progress was made.

Fall term taught by Miss Clara M. Smith. The school, under her care, exhibited a steady and sure progress in the studies pursued. The school in this district is the only one in town where vocal music was taught.

DISTRICT No. 8.

THOMAS PALMER, Prudential Committee.

Summer term taught by Miss Emma B. Colby, who conducted her school in a creditable manner. This school is very easily managed, the scholars obedient and industrious; much advancement was made. The parents and friends of this district manifested much interest in the school by visiting it upon examination day.

Winter term taught by Mr. Frank B. Chase. The Prudential Committee having failed in his duty, I received no notice of the opening of the school. Without doubt Mr. Chase taught an excellent school, as is fully confirmed by the many flattering reports from all quarters of the district.

DISTRICT No. 10.

HENRY BIXBY, Prudential Committee.

Fall term taught by Miss Addie F. Bixby, a teacher of rather limited experience, but taught this school with good success; the scholars exhibited much improvement, and am satisfied that the teacher labored faithfully.

DISTRICT No. 11.

ALDEN W. ROWE, Prudential Committee.

This was Miss Eaton's second term in this district. The hearty co-operation of teacher and scholars in their labors gave unmistakable assurance of a good degree of improvement. The district made some repairs upon the outside of the school house. The inside needs thorough renovation.

DISTRICT No. 12.

WELLINGTON E. FLANDERS, Prudential Committee.

Summer and winter terms taught by Miss Mary J. Eaton, who conducted her school in a manner highly creditable. All her pupils made marked improvement. A perfect union of feeling existed between teacher, pupils and parents, and where this is the case, a genuine success is always sure.

UNION SCHOOL DISTRICT No. 1.

T. A. J. JONES, BENJAMIN ABBOTT, JOHN E. FRENCH, Prudential Committees.

GRAMMAR DEPARTMENT.

Summer and fall terms, both under the instruction of Miss Etta F. Nichols, who is known to be one of our most successful teachers. Her method of discipline is mild, yet effective, and am happy to report that much good work was accomplished.

Winter term taught by Mr. Stephen S. Bean, who has taught many terms of school. Mr. Bean possesses rare and excellent qualifications and ability, and is a thorough disciplinarian. His name alone is a sufficient guaranty of success. We were more than pleased with the recitations, which plainly indicated that no pains had been spared to give thorough instruction.
